Pre-merger recorded of each of the merged State or estate cannot be considered to be the private property of the ruler. On the merger of the State, the state records authmatically vest in the Government with which the State has merged. From the specimen of the merger agreement (pages 9 to 11) it appears that the agreement does not contain any provision for the breach of the agreement on the part of the ruler. In the circumstances, it is desirable to refer to the Government of India in the matter.
